Honest, simple insurance

Your coverage at a glance

Four top-up plans, one decision — how much of your healthcare costs do you want covered? This guide walks you through what each plan does, where the differences matter, and what you'll actually pay in everyday situations. No jargon, no fine print surprises.

The four plans

Each plan tops up what France's mandatory health insurance (Sécurité sociale) already covers — so you pay less out of pocket on doctors, hospital stays, dental, optical, and more.

Basic

Provided by APRIL

The safety net covers the essentials, not much else.

Your routine doctor visits and the government-defined 100% Santé baskets are covered — meaning free standard glasses, hearing aids, and dental crowns. Beyond that, you're mostly on your own. Private hospital rooms, specialists who charge premium fees, designer glasses, and dental implants all come out of pocket.

Good for you're generally healthy, stick to standard doctors, and you're fine using the free equipment options. You'd rather pay less every month and accept that big expenses come out of pocket.

Essential

Provided by Feather

A light top-up for everyday care — thin on hospital.

A small step up. Doctor visits are reimbursed at a higher rate, dental work starts being meaningfully covered, and you get a small budget for osteopath or acupuncturist sessions. The catch — hospital coverage barely improves on Basic. If a surgeon charges premium fees (common in private clinics), this plan won't help much. No private room either.

Good for you, want a little extra cushion on day-to-day care, and you're either already covered for hospital costs another way or willing to take the risk on a major procedure.

Comfort – most popular

Provided by Feather

The balanced plan – strong coverage without paying for premium extras.

This is the sweet spot for most people. Hospital coverage becomes serious — you can see a specialist surgeon without worrying about excess fees, and a private room runs €60 a day. Dental work is well covered, including a real budget for implants (which can cost €2,000+ and aren't covered by Social Security). You also get laser eye surgery, thermal cures, a birth bonus, and a yearly osteopath budget. Glasses reimbursed up to €290–340.

Good for you, want strong protection without overpaying. Works well for families, couples planning kids, occasional specialist users, and anyone who wants peace of mind on dental work.

Excellence

Provided by Feather

The premium plan – almost nothing comes out of your pocket.

Hospital coverage is essentially unlimited, even for the most expensive surgeons. Private room at €80 a day. Dental prostheses, implants, hearing aids, and glasses are all reimbursed at the highest level the plan offers. You also get coverage no other plan touches — the flu vaccine, the most generous osteopath budget, and a €300 birth bonus.

Good for you, frequently see specialists with premium fees, anticipate major dental work like multiple crowns or implants, want a hotel-like hospital experience, or simply don't want to think about healthcare costs at all.

Side-by-side by category

A quick view of how each plan performs across the main healthcare disciplines. Use this to spot where the differences matter most for you.

The full coverage details

If you want the exact numbers, here's everything broken down by category. Percentages refer to the Social Security reimbursement base (BR) — there's a plain-English guide to the jargon at the end.

What you'll actually pay

Percentages on a benefits table are abstract. Real out-of-pocket costs aren't. Here are ten everyday situations, with the actual amount you'd pay on each plan after Social Security and your top-up reimburse their share.

How it works in three steps. Social Security defines a reference price (the BR) for every procedure and reimburses part of it. Your top-up plan covers the rest, up to its limit. If the doctor charges more than the BR ("excess fees"), the difference is yours unless your plan covers above 100% BR.

1. GP consultation, standard pricing (€30)

BR €30. Social Security pays 70% minus €2 statutory contribution = €19.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | €9    | €9        | €9      | €9         |
| You pay       | €2    | €2        | €2      | €2         |

All plans cover this fully (minus the €2 non-reimbursable fee).

2. Specialist DPTAM at €60 (€30 excess fees)

BR €30. Social Security pays €19.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | €9    | €15       | €30     | €60        |
| You pay       | €32   | €26       | €11     | €0         |

Higher plans absorb the €30 excess. Excellence covers it fully.

3. Specialist non-DPTAM at €80

BR €23 (lower for non-DPTAM). Social Security pays €14.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | €7    | €7        | €19     | €30        |
| You pay       | €59   | €59       | €47     | €36        |

Non-DPTAM doctors are penalized – even Excellence leaves a gap.

4. Hospitalization – 5-day stay with surgery

Public hospital, accommodation €2,500 + DPTAM surgeon fees €600 (€200 excess) + daily fee €100 + private room €400 (5 nights at €80).

| Benefit                         | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------------------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays on surgeon excess | €180  | €80       | €200    | €200       |
| Daily hospital fee covered      | Fully | Fully     | Fully   | Fully      |
| Private room reimbursed         | €200  | €250      | €300    | €400       |
| You pay (total)                 | €320  | €470      | €100    | €0         |

Essential is weak on hospital – 100% BR means no excess fee coverage.

5. Dental crown, Moderate offer (€500)

BR €120. Social Security pays €84.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | €36   | €120      | €210    | €360       |
| You pay       | €380  | €296      | €206    | €56        |

Dental excess fees are the clearest place where higher plans pay off.

6. Dental crown, 100% Santé (capped at €290)

BR €120. Social Security pays €84.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | €206  | €206      | €206    | €206       |
| You pay       | €0    | €0        | €0      | €0         |

All plans cover the 100% Santé basket fully – that's the legal minimum.

7. Glasses, Class B free tariff (€450)

Two complex lenses + frame. BR is symbolic (~€0.10). Social Security pays almost nothing.

| Benefit       | Basic | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|---------------|-------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays | ~€0   | €240      | €320    | €400       |
| You pay       | ~€450 | €210      | €130    | €50        |

Free-tariff glasses are where the gap is widest. Basic is essentially uncovered.

8. Glasses, Class A 100% Santé (~€125)

| Benefit       | Basic            | Essential        | Comfort          | Excellence       |
|---------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|
| Mutuelle pays | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV |
| You pay       | €0               | €0               | €0               | €0               |

9. Hearing aid, Class I 100% Santé (€950/ear)

| Benefit       | Basic            | Essential        | Comfort          | Excellence       |
|---------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|
| Mutuelle pays | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV | Actual up to PLV |
| You pay       | €0               | €0               | €0               | €0               |

10. Hearing aid, Class II free offer (€1,500/ear)

BR €400. Social Security pays 60% = €240.

| Benefit           | Basic  | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|-------------------|--------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Mutuelle pays     | €160   | €260      | €500    | €920       |
| You pay (per ear) | €1,100 | €1,000    | €760    | €340       |

Hearing aids are expensive even at Excellence — but the gap from Basic to Excellence is €760 per ear.

The big picture

Total out-of-pocket across all ten examples — a useful proxy for what an average year of healthcare might cost on each plan.

| Benefit                  | Basic   | Essential | Comfort | Excellence |
|--------------------------|---------|-----------|---------|------------|
| Cumulative out-of-pocket | ~€2,355 | ~€2,070   | ~€1,260 | ~€493      |

Basic handles the legal minimum well, but leaves you exposed on the costs that add up over time — excess fees, designer optical, private rooms. Comfort hits the best price-performance balance for most people. Excellence is the right call for anyone who routinely sees specialists at premium pricing or wants total predictability.

Quick guide to the jargon

French health insurance has its own vocabulary. Here's a plain-English translation of the terms you'll see throughout this document.

Base de Remboursement (BR): A reference price set by Social Security for every procedure. When a plan says “170% BR,” it means it'll reimburse up to 170% of that reference — so the higher the percentage, the more is covered.

Social Security (Sécu) is France's mandatory health insurance. Pays a portion of most procedures. Your top-up plan covers what's left.

DPTAM Doctors who've agreed to limit their excess fees. Seeing one means lower out-of-pocket. Non-DPTAM doctors can charge more, and plans reimburse them less.

100% Santé: A government-defined basket of glasses, hearing aids, and dental work that's fully covered by Social Security and your top-up plan. You pay €0 — but the options are limited to standard models.

Ticket modérateur: The portion of a procedure's cost that Social Security doesn't pay. Most top-up plans cover this fully.

Forfait: A flat reimbursement amount in euros — not a percentage. Used for things Social Security doesn't reimburse, like dental implants.

HLF and PLV: Price caps are set by law on certain procedures (HLF for dental, PLV for hearing aids and optical). Used in the 100% Santé baskets.

Still not sure

Choosing a health plan isn't always obvious — what looks like a small difference on paper can mean hundreds of euros in real life. We're expats too, and we know how strange foreign insurance can feel. If you'd like to talk it through, our team is here — no commissions, no sales pitch, just honest guidance to help you find the right cover.
